Do you care about food access in Chatham County?

Join the Rural Advancement Foundation International (RAFI) at our Come to the Table Food, Faith & Justice Gathering.

This gathering brings together Chatham community members and beyond to discuss issues of racial equity in our food system. We'll examine how faith-based communities and food access advocates can use an equity lens, rather than a charity model, to address issues of hunger and food security.

Goals of this Gathering:

- Deepening our understanding of how to build equity in our work
- Creating opportunities for collaboration and peer learning
- Developing strategies and problem-solving on a local level

How to Register: Space is limited to 35-40 attendees.
